WELCOME TO EBROW & RTI 2027

Bronchiectasis and respiratory tract infections are closely related: repeated respiratory tract infections can induce bronchiectasis, while exacerbations are the acute expression of the disease. Furthermore, infective comorbidities can worsen the prognosis of bronchiectasis and influence its management.

Bringing EBROW and the RTI Forum together to share part of the programme is therefore a natural evolution, strengthening collaboration, knowledge exchange and new thinking.

This combined meeting will bring together experts and professionals from slightly different backgrounds to explore the latest developments, share perspectives and build new connections across the respiratory community.
